

What are you going to miss most about high school after graduation?

Kelsey Bennett- Hiller Hoagies.

Hailey Scott- I will miss being around the teachers because they helped motivate me every day.

Gage Martin- I'm going to miss playing football in front of our Hiller fans.

Maddie Crumrine- My friends and basketball.

Jonathan Brodak- I think I'm most going to miss the safety of having a linear pathway. Throughout high school and prior to high school, you always knew the next step. When you're in 9th grade, the next step is 10th grade. When you're in 10th grade, the next step is 11th grade. But now, the next step is whatever you want. It feels like the world just completely opened up and it is a bit difficult to see the full scope of what has opened up when you graduate high school.

Summer Ames- Every FFA field trip. All 59.

Autumn Hall- I'm going to miss my teachers, the lunch ladies, and my friends. These people work so hard day in and day out to give us the best atmosphere we can get, and to provide us with help and with opportunities. They have been very influential and I have grown to not only consider them as teachers and staff but also as friends that provide guidance. I will miss the routine of seeing them and the routine of having class with my friends.

Samuel Miller- I'm gonna miss the friends I've made over the years. I'm gonna miss seeing them and talking to them every day. These are the same people I grew up with and made me who I am today, some of them I may never see again. But maybe this whole situation is just an "easy was for us to rip off the bandaid."

Sheriden Zofchak- The thrill of walking down the hallway without a pass.

Alyssa Stewart- I am going to miss walking the halls because I have so many memories of sitting in them, waiting to go to football games, competitions, or just waiting for practice to start.

Alison Spadaro- Definitely the friends and support systems I have.

Michael Phillips- lunch

Dakota McWee- The halls of the school I've come to love and my friends, and my teachers.

Kendra Giovinali- My senior year. Also, my teammates and friends.

Nicole VanKirk- HILLER HOAGIES.

Cassandra Hrabik- I am going to miss running races and meets, being Varsity Cheer captain, calling cheers, tumbling and stunting at football and basketball games, and being a part of pep assemblies.

Elana Butler- Being able to be a teenager and not have to worry about adult things yet.

Andrew Kubacka- My friends, the teachers, and just walking around and being there.

Abigail Shaffer- My underclassmen friends, specifically Megan Geer.

Taylor Riegle- I am going to miss seeing my friends every day in school, even though I said I hated school but it gave me purpose.

Caitlyn Scott- The relationships I've made with a lot of teachers here at Trinity. A few of them I've known since kindergarten and was lucky enough to have them in high school after all those years.

Alina Mayton- My friends, both seniors and underclassmen. I'll miss the art wing and getting lost in the fun of creating. I'll miss the music department and the stage and being able to make music. I'll miss the lunchtime chats and the freaking out with friends about school assignments. I'll miss the memories I've made.

Austin Beels- My teachers, they made me into the person I am today, and I'm sure all of them will miss me even more!!

Ben Reese- The memories of being young, walking through the hallways. What life was like in schools in the 2010s.

Brianne Coatsworth- I'm going to miss high school marching band the most. It's gotten to a point in which the underclassmen call me "mom" and that's a title I don't take for granted. For all the wins and first places to watching each other get out of our lowest of the lows, it's given me a second family that I can't replace.

Hannah Jones- The people and the fun events.

Mia Shrum- I am going to miss the connections I had with friends and the bonds I created in both the musical and with my peers. I will also miss Friday nights and being on the sidelines for sports med.
