

He said, she said

By Katherine Drezewski, Media Editor and Arts and Entertainment Editor

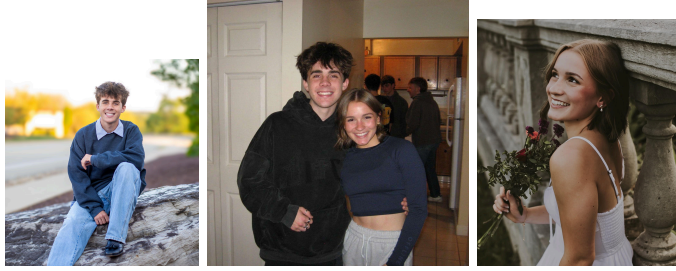

Photo Courtesy of Talan Gardner and Rylie Armstrong

Talan Gardner

Rylie Armstrong

We have known each other since middle school. But we really got close in chemistry sophomore year.	When and where did you first meet?	We met in middle school in 6th or 7th grade. (I turned him down the first time...)
We've been dating for about a year and a few months.	How long have you been dating?	A little over a year
I feel like Rylie liked me first, but I was the first one to admit to it.	Who liked who first? Who admitted their feelings first?	I think I secretly liked him at first, but he admitted feelings first. I honestly don't remember. It was pretty mutual though.
Definitely me. I always know how to make her laugh.	Who is funnier? Why?	I think he's funnier. He makes me laugh a lot and his sense of humor is more creative and sometimes embarrassing but I think it's funny. He'll probably say he's funnier too, so sometimes I have to pretend he's weird so I can keep him humble.
Going to dinner then something like a movie or sports event.	What's your ideal date night?	I feel like we've been on so many different dates, but I would love to get dinner and watch the sunset on the beach and just talk and have fun, then get dessert and watch a movie.
I really like Rylie's hair and eyes. They were the first thing that caught my attention about her.	What do you like most about each other? Why?	What I like most is his kind and funny personality and definitely his thoughtfulness. He's always doing the little things.
We went to Plaza Azteca. Our parents had to drop us off because we couldn't drive yet and it was awkward at first, but then it was a good time and we really connected.	Where was your first date? How was it?	We went to dinner at Plaza Azteca. I was really nervous and our parents dropped us off, but it went really well and we clicked from the beginning.
Lack of consistency leads to complacency with each other.	Best relationship advice?	Be open, honest and communicate about EVERYTHING, good and bad. Just have fun and do what makes you happy together.
We're both going to different colleges, yet hope to see each other at every break and to talk frequently.	What are your future plans? Involving each other?	My future plans are to major in marketing and study business analytics. We are attending different colleges so we plan to talk a lot and hope to visit each other on breaks and holidays.

